$20 REWARD FOR THE GRANGERS

In order to help infuse life into the granges of Columbia County and to aid in securing the very best showing possible of Columbia County's resources at the State Fair in Salem next September, I have decided to offer a reward of $20 to the grango contributing the best collection of farm products forage plants, grains, vegetables and fruits.

This is an opportunity to help your neighborhood, your County, and your grange. The $20 is not intended as pay, for grangers do not need to be paid to interest themselves in this work. It is merely intended to stimulate competition and to interest your members. Take this up at the next meeting and if your grange wishes to compete for the prize let me know at once. This offer holds good if three granges compete, otherwise it may be withdrawn. I want to hear from you at once, as now is the time to begin work on the collection of grasses and fall sown grain. Exhibits must be delivered to me at St. Helens by September 5th, and may be brought in at any time. Instruct your secretary to inform me if you desire to compete. Don't confine the contributions to grangers by any means, ask all your neighbors to help. Get in and drill and we will win first prize for Columbia County at the State Fair. E. H. FLAGG
State Fair Commissioner.

THE OREGONIAN'S ASSEMBLY

Persistently the Oregonian defends the proposed assembly and claims that it will represent the wishes of the Republican voters of this State. It quotes Governor Hughes in defense of the assembly, but is not honest enough to state that there is a vast difference between an assembly or convention provided for by law and one advocated and engineered by men who are opposed to the direct primary and would willingly see it discredited. There will be nothing representative about the Portland assembly except that it will "represent" the gang that by its votes elected George Chamberlain instead of H. M. Calk and boasted that it did so because it would not accept the primary nomination. There will be no 1200 delegates in the Portland assembly, although 1200 votes will be cast, those present according to the call, casting the vote of the entire apportionment for each county. No man in Columbia County who seeks public office will be foolish enough to seek an assembly nomination should one be held in this county, for the Republican voters of Columbia County take no stock whatever in the Portland assembly, and whoever goes to the Portland assembly from Columbia County will represent a very small constituency. It is very probable, however, that the assembly crowd will pick a few winners. There are some candidates for reelection whom it does not dare turn down. Judge T. A. McBride, for instance, is one of the foremost advocates of the direct primary and other recent reforms. No doubt the Oregonian would be pleased to see his name left off the ticket, but it dare not advocate doing so, and therefore he and several others whom the Portland gang does not want will receive the O.K. of the assembly. Then the voters will have their say at the primary, and if they have the wisdom to center their votes on strong men the assembly crowd will be defeated, and it will then, as in the last election, do its utmost to defeat Republican nominees. If the State were at all close Democratic victory would be assured, and even as it is there is a good chance for a partial Democratic victory. The Republican voters would not stand for Furnish and there are others whose names would prove to be just as objectionable should they receive a plurality nomination by the aid of the assembly crowd.

THE INCOME TAX

At the next session of the Oregon Legislature the amendment to the constitution of the United States, providing for an income tax, will come up for ratification or rejection. So far the Legislatures of six States have ratified it, five have rejected it and two postponed. The people of the States that have, by their Legislatures, rejected the income tax, no doubt favor it but their Legislatures are controlled by the capitalists and corporations. We are sure the people of Oregon favor the income tax, and it would be a good idea to compel each candidate for the Legislature to announce his views on the subject.

The Fruit-Crop Loss.

(Saturday Evening Post.)
Over five million acres in the United States are planted to fruit, yielding their owners an annual income upward of a hundred and fifty million dollars. But this year the income from many thousands of acres will be small, and from other acres nothing at all.

Freezing weather over the whole central portion of the country, continuing two or three days, late in April, after an extraordinarily warm and forward spring, might make one temporarily discard the whole category of modern agricultural science and turn back to the Book of Ecclesiastes for imagessufficiently powerful and gloomy to express his thoughts.

The most approved method of combating blight, scale and rot loss interest when fruit farmers, over immense regions, see a temperature below thirty descend upon trees and vines that are loaded with tender buds.

Devastation by fire, flood or earthquake, and those catastrophes that happen in Wall Street, have at least something dramatic about them. The victims have the consolation of being overwhelmed to a proper theatrical accompaniment of sound and fury. But killing frost descends in the most casual, matter-of-course way, as though it were nothing out of the ordinary. The farmer, so to speak, has to take his medicine in dead silence.

In few industries has there been a greater expansion of late years than in fruit, and in none has expansion on the whole been more desirable. Good and cheap fruit is better to have than the biggest battleship. It seems rather unfair, in a broad view, that many thousands of Middle-Western fruit farmers, who have helped to give us good and cheap fruit, must stick mostly to potatoes this year.

Stop a moment! How much have you wasted this month? There is but a short time left. Begin this week with a deposit. Time Certificates draw 4 per cent.
